

HECKER'S FARINA, prepared expressly for families, a delicate and appropriate food for all seasons; and one of the most economical, nutritious, and wholesome preparations ever brought to the table, eminently commending itself to the delicate, the infirm, the aged, and the invalid, and with simple and beautiful sustenance of the body.

Strictly speaking, Heckers' Farina is neither stringent nor laxative, but restorative, strengthening the system, and restoring the bowels to their normal condition. It is especially indicated in cases of indigestion, flatulency, constipation, diarrhoea, dysentery, and even in cases of cholera, when food is deemed admissible by the physicians. Heckers' Farina cannot fail to be salutary; and wherever known will be used by the prudent and judicious practitioner. The preservation of health or the prevention of sickness is at least as important as the curing of disease.

people in health should therefore use Hecker's articles, and eat common food, to preserve the instinctual casing.

PAPER MOISTENER.--A New Invention
for Moistening the leaves of a Copying Book. Postage Stamps, Envelopes, and Moistening the Fingers when Counting Bank Bills; also useful in all situations, and will be found an indispensable article for every Desk.
It is perfectly simple and cheap, and must come to general use.

The following are a few complimentary opin-

PAPER MOISTENER.—A new and very neat use of the old paper-moistening post office stamps, envelopes, sheets in a copying book, counting bank bills, &c. This does away with the disagreeable method of moistening stamps, &c., with the finger, which is just what is very simple and cheap, and will be universally adopted as soon as it is seen.—Boston Transcript, Sept. 1854.

PAPER MOISTENER.—A new invention for moistening postage stamps, envelopes, sheets in a copying book, counting bank bills, &c. The common way of moistening stamps, envelopes, sheets, &c., with the finger, is not only inconvenient, but also the usual way of wetting sheets in a copying book, by using a brush which has to be dipped in water, is inconvenient and very liable to give the paper a yellowish stain, and is very disagreeable to the eye. This new invention is very desirable for copying letters. This article obviates these difficulties, besides being useful for various other purposes. It is also perfectly simple, cheap, and can be made into general use.—Boston Post, Sept. 1854.

PAPER MOUNTING—A newly invented and very useful little contrivance for mounting postage stamps and envelopes, and for writing sheets in copying book, &c. It costs but little, and will save the tongue a good deal of unpleasant work. (Union Transfer, Sept. 1854.)

THE NATIONAL HOTEL,
N this city, will be reopened for the reception of guests on the 27th of this month. The removal of the Kitchen from the basement to the rear of the building, and the alterations in and about the Dining Room, will render the place more convenient and comfortable for its guests. The table will be furnished with the best the markets can afford, and served in the best style, and no expense will be spared to render the house, in every respect, equal to any in the country.
